Voluntary Work

Voluntary work is something you may not have considered before. However, voluntary work can provide the opportunity to build on existing skills, whilst also gaining new skills and experience that could lead to new job opportunities. Some voluntary organisations also offer training to SVQ standard.

To find out more about becoming a volunteer, and the type of volunteering opportunities available, contact your local volunteer office.

If you decide to take up volunteering and are in receipt of Jobseeker's Allowance and/or any other benefits, you should advise your local Jobcentre.
